IV. ARCHITECTURAL REVIEW PROCEDURES AND APPROVAL

1. Purpose

Centennial Crossing is among the first communities in the Midwest that reflects the guiding principles of Traditional Neighborhood Design. The land plan is reminiscent of the close-knit neighborhoods of early 20th century America, with numerous parks, "foot-friendly" streets and a network of service alleys running behind. The homes are equally distinctive, with elevations offering real architectural variety and integrity, and streetscapes dominated by front porches and sidewalks, not garage doors. In keeping with this theme, a process of architectural review and approval is required to preserve the architectural and aesthetic appearance of Centennial Crossing and protect the property values of all Homeowners.

The layout and design of the neighborhood is also intended to instill a spirit of community among residents. Residents are expected to be considerate of their neighbors as well as respect and tolerate differences in taste and lifestyle.

2. Architectural Review Committee.

As per the Bylaws and to facilitate review of architectural approvals, the Board may establish an Architectural Review Committee ("ARC") which shall consist entirely of Association Members. The President of the Association shall appoint members to the ARC and any member may be removed from the ARC with or without cause by a majority vote of the Board. Each member of the Committee shall continue as such until the next annual meeting and until his or her successor is appointed and shall have qualified unless the Committee shall be terminated or unless such member shall cease to qualify as a member thereof. The ARC shall elect a chairman from its members and shall meet as needed.

3. Mission Statement

The ARC is a committee of one or more volunteer homeowners that serve as an advisory group to the Centennial Crossing Homeowners Association (“CCHOA”) Board (the “Board”) and has the responsibility to maintain the standards and the amenities of the Centennial Crossing community in accordance with the Governing Documents and these Rules and Regulation and the Architectural Guidelines (Exhibit A) Guidelines. As such, the ARC seeks to:

- Preserve the high standards and the physical aesthetics of Centennial Crossing as they relate to residential buildings, property, and landscaping.
- Provide the basis for rules and sanctions to maintain this special community.
- Develop reference points to return to when standards are breached.
- Create an environment that enhances and protects the sense of community, interactions, and activities.
- Treat everyone equally and fairly.

4. Submissions to the Board.

To secure Board approval for any improvement addressed in the declaration, Bylaws or these Rules and Regulations, an Owner shall deliver to the Board a complete set of the following items:

- i. if the proposed improvement consists of anything other than the painting and/or staining of a dwelling unit's exterior, a site plan of the lot illustrating, among other data, the location, and dimensions of all intended construction, including changes to the top of foundation elevation, drainage, and grading plans when affected, and other information which will enable the Board to understand the proposed construction and its relationship to surrounding topography. For all projects, requests, structures, improvements that require CCHOA Board approval, Refer to Exhibit A: Architectural Guidelines
- ii. A detailed description and drawings of all aspects of the proposed improvement, including methods of construction, proposed time period for construction, and the color, quality and type of exterior construction materials to be used.
- iii. An Architectural Improvement Application Form (Exhibit B) or
- iv. All the foregoing items (hereinafter collectively denoted "Plans and Specifications") shall conform to the applicable provisions of the Declaration.
- v. An Owner who wishes to change the color of an exterior component (siding, trim, shutters, etc.) must submit color samples to the board for approval prior to the application of paint or stain. The variety of exterior paint colors adds to the unique aesthetics and valued charm of Centennial Crossing. Therefore, neighboring homes that are directly adjacent, cannot have the same or similar exterior siding paint colors. Repetition of the same exterior paint color/color family across multiple homes on a single street is prohibited.

5. Architectural Approval

- i. Homeowners are required to comply with the Governing Documents (the Declaration of Covenants, the Bylaws, Amendments and to the Governing Documents) which can be found at the Centennial Crossing website. The CCHOA Rules and regulations and Guidelines supplement the Governing Documents but do not replace the Governing Documents. It is the responsibility of the homeowner to read and understand the Governing Documents.
- ii. No work shall begin until final approval is granted, except as provided for in these Guidelines. Any work or installation performed prior to ARC approval is prohibited and may be subject to fines or liens.
- iii. Homeowners are encouraged to contact the ARC to request guidance during the planning stages to avoid possible problems or delays during the formal review process.
- iv. All approved plans must be installed exactly as approved. If a problem occurs during the installation of an approved project that might alter the plan as approved, the homeowner should contact the ARC for an expedited review. In these cases, the committee will review the problem and provide the homeowner with a response as soon as possible.
- v. The Board shall approve or disapprove a request for architectural approval by a majority vote taken within a reasonable time frame from the date an Owner completes his or her submission to the Board. The Board will make every reasonable effort to respond to an Owner's request in an expeditious manner. The Board or its agent shall notify an Owner in writing as to whether the latter's Plans and Specifications are approved or disapproved. Approvals/disapprovals shall be based upon the governing Declaration, Rules, and Regulations and P.U.D. The absence of such written notification shall not be interpreted as an approval. Upon issuance of the requested architectural approval, no further approvals shall be required with respect thereto, unless, either (a) such improvement has not been substantially commenced within 6 months of the issuance of the requested architectural approval (e.g., clearing and grading, pouring of footings) or (b) the approved Plans and Specifications are altered or changed in a material manner or fashion.

6. Review of Revised Plans and Specifications.

In the event that the Board disapproves of an Owner's requested architectural approval, the notification in writing from the Board to the Owner shall state the reason(s) for such disapproval. In the event of such disapproval, an Owner may submit revised Plans and Specifications to be considered by the Board in the manner set forth in Section 4.

7. Effect of Architectural Approval.

The approval of Plans and Specifications, the issuance of architectural approval and/or the publication of standards shall not be construed as representing or implying that such Plans and Specifications or standards shall, if followed, result in properly designed construction.

Such approvals and standards shall in no event be construed as representing or assuring that the dwelling unit, lot, or other improvement performed in accordance therewith shall be built in a good or workmanlike manner. The Board and/or the Association shall not be responsible or liable for any defects in any Plans and Specifications submitted, revised, or approved, nor for any loss or damage to person or property stemming from approval or disapproval of any Plans and Specifications, a lack of compliance of such Plans and Specifications with any applicable governmental ordinances or regulations, or any defects in construction undertaken pursuant to such Plans and Specifications.

Notwithstanding the obtaining of architectural approval, an Owner shall solely be responsible to apply and pay for and obtain any and all required governmental approvals, permits, licenses. etc. and shall comply with the requirements of all ordinances and regulations of the Village of Vernon Hills or, as applicable, the County of Lake (including the zoning ordinance), all applicable building, health and safety codes and all recorded restrictions, covenants, and conditions applicable to the Owner's lot.
